RYAN ANGST PROMOTED TO HOMETOWN BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT OFFICER AT SHORELINE HOMETOWN CREDIT UNION

Shoreline Hometown Credit Union has announced the promotion of Ryan Angst as Hometown Business Development Officer. In his new role, Ryan will work with the community, community members, and local small businesses to develop relationships that result in membership growth for the credit union. He will be responsible primarily for promoting Shoreline’s Hometown Business program in the Green Bay area.

Ryan will focus heavily on spreading Shoreline’s Hometown brand throughout Brown County. “I want everyone in Brown County to know exactly what we stand for and who we are here to help,” states Angst.

“I’m super excited for the new role. It gives me the opportunity to do what I do best in a community that I love and am passionate about,” Angst continues. “I’m looking forward to spreading our Hometown Values to Brown County and giving the residents of our area a one-stop shop for all of their financial needs. We don’t think we can help, we KNOW we can, and it’s my role to get that message to everyone in Brown County.

Ryan has spent the last several years with Shoreline as a Mortgage Lending Officer. As a result, he is deeply familiar with Shoreline’s brand and will be able to represent it effectively to the Green Bay community. He also has a strong, 17-year-plus background in the financial services industry – experience that has proven a valuable asset throughout his time at Shoreline.

“Ryan is a great fit to champion our hometown values in action,” says Kyle Bryntesen, Shoreline’s Community Outreach Officer. “He will bring our Hometown brand to life, supporting small businesses, local Green Bay non-profits, and the community at large.”
